

I believe strongly that it is contrary to the public interest and common good to allow greater media consolidation. I urge the commission to keep the rules as they are.